

NOUSAKU

In 1916, Nousaku began manufacturing Buddhist ritual objects, Japanese tea sets, and vases made of brass and bronze in Takaoka, Japan. The city has flourished since 1609, and built its reputation as the center of the copper industry in Japan over those 400 years.

Casting is a manufacturing process in which a molten metal is poured into a mold to form an object of the desired shape. Every Nousaku product starts with the creation of a sand mold, and then undergoes several finishing processes. Hand-finishing by experienced craftsmen accentuates its material beauty and fineness.

Brass

Brass, a metallic alloy made of copper and zinc, makes clear and beautiful tone and is therefore used for musical instruments, such as horns and trumpets. Nousaku has developed bells and wind chimes to make the most of this property. The simple design and appearance of our brass products is only achieved by the advanced casting and refined finishing techniques of our master craftsmen.

Tin

Known as the most expensive metal after gold and silver, tin is very malleable and bendable. Though tin resembles silver in its whiteness, it does not rust nor tarnish easily. Also, pure tin is significantly antibacterial and safe for serving foods. In Japan, it has been said that tin removes the bitterness from Japanese sake as well as other beverages.

Variable in shape by hand.
